Burchett was taken into the Admiralty service as a boy of 14 by Samuel Pepys in 1680, but, incurring his displeasure, was discharged in 1687. At the Revolution he posed as a political martyr and was engaged as Admiral Russell's secretary, and later became secretary of the Admiralty, an office which he held until 1742.

A valuable feature of the present work are the instructions from Pepys to Sir Roger Strickland and Lord Dartmouth at the time of William III's Journey to England, with appended lists of ships. Burchett prints these, which are probably the last instructions issued by Pepys as Secretary of the Admiralty.

The author, whose name is sometimes given as Borough, was D.D. of Cambridge and rector of Collingham, Nottinghamshire. He was Chancellor of the University of Cambridge in 1384. A BEAUTIFUL LITTLE VOLUME OF THE UTMOST RARITY.

It measures $4\frac{1}{8}$ by $3\frac{1}{8}$ ins. and is not recorded by Brunet, Graesse, Proctor or other bibliographers. The cipher V.G. is probably that of Urs Graf, which would indicate that the book was executed at Basle, where he was working at the beginning of the XVI century. The woodcuts are of great artistic interest, and the volume is most beautifully printed.

In point of condition this volume would be hard indeed to match, being an early sixteenth century book as it left the printer's hands entirely uncut and perfectly clean. It was bound by Bedford for the first time, as it came to light in sheet form some fifty years ago.

Sm. 4to, old mottled calf, with the ARMS of LOUIS HENRI, COMTE DE LOMENIE, in gilt on sides, £2 15*s.*

These letters were written from Rome in the years 1581 and 1582. There are many references to Spanish affairs, and a few to Queen Elizabeth. In particular on page 606 the Archbishop records his explanation to the Pope of the inadvisability of the French King taking up arms against the Queen of England and the Scottish lords in order to come to the aid of the young Prince James, as the Pope was anxious that Henri III should do.

55 GENT (Thomas), Annales Regioduni Hullini ; or, the History of the Royal and beautiful Town of Kingston-upon-Hull ; from the original of it thro' the means of its illustrious founder, King Edward the First : In which are included all the most remarkable transactions, Ecclesiastical, Civil and Military. Sold at the Printing Office, near the Star in Stone-gate, York, 1735. 8vo, with a view and plan of the Town and other folding plates, numerous curious woodcuts, etc., vellum, UNCUT, £3 10*s*.

Anno domini millesimo quingetesimo vigesimo octauo, sexto Calendas Julias.* Folio, GOTHIC LETTER, printed in red and black, woodcuts, musical notation, old leather binding, £85.

Very few copies of the printed Sarum Graduale have survived to the present time. There is no copy of this edition either in the British Museum or the Bodleian Libraries. By a curious mistake of the original binder of the volume two copies of the leaves F1 and F8 in the Commune Sanctorum have been included in it, but the leaves F2 and F7 omitted. Photostats of these leaves from a copy in the Cambridge University Library, reproduced by the kind permission of the librarian, accompany the volume.

59 HAYWARDE (Sir John), The Life and Raigne of King Edward the Sixt. London, Printed for John Partridge, 1630. Extremely rare. This edition is not recorded in the Bibliographical Society's Short Title Catalogue of English Books to 1640. A portion of the woodcut on the title-page has been restored, the blank margin of 4 leaves and one or two corners repaired, otherwise it is a large and complete copy. On the verso of folio cxxxv is written " Vnto Syr Wyllam sefton be thys delyueret wth spede."

61 LE MAIRE (Jean), Le temple dhonneur et de vertus. Compose par Jehan le maistre disciple de molinet. A lhonneur de feu monseigneur de boubon. [Paris, Michel Lenoir, vers 1504]. Sm. 4to, Gothic Letter, one leaf (B1) in facsimile, original leaves inlaid throughout to size, and bound in red morocco, gilt edges, £35.

A very rare and early edition of this poem. On folio A 2 recto the author says to the Duchess of Bourbon "Apres lauoir communique a Michiel le noir libraire et imprimeur de paris, lequel la bien voulu mettre sur ses formes impressoires & le publier par tout ta[n]t en Conte [m]platio[n] des merites du tresbo[n] prince deffunt q[ue] de vo[u]s Madame." The only copy we have been able to trace is that in the Bibliothèque Nationale.

See Frontispiece.

The first piece (Lanterius) belonged to the great Elizabethan navigator SIR HUMPHREY GILBERT, and has his signature H. Gilberte on the title page. It is interesting to note that George Carew made a voyage with Gilbert in 1578. Charles Kingsley characterized Gilbert as "most learned of all Elizabeth's admirals in life, most pious and heroic in death." The signature of this pioneer of navigation is EXTREMELY RARE.

EXTREMELY RARE. Of this issue only one copy is recorded in the Short Title Catalogue, that in the British Museum. Malynes was one of the earliest English writers on economics and trade. His works are full of valuable information on commercial subjects, and are indispensable to the economic historian.

Thomas Whaley, sometimes called "Buck" or "Jerusalem" Whaley, was the eldest son of Richard Chapell Whaley, of Whaley Abbey, co. Wicklow, and of Dublin. When he was sixteen years of age his mother sent him to France, in order to finish his education. He led a dissipated and extravagant life there for a time, returned to Dublin, and at the age of eighteen he was elected a member of the Irish House of Commons. His well-known journey to Jerusalem originated in a jest during a dinner with some friends, who asked him to what part of the world he meant to direct his course next. "To Jerusalem," he answered. It was suggested by some present that there was no such place then existing, whereupon he "offered to bet any sum" that he would go to Jerusalem and return to Dublin within two years from his departure. Within the next few days he had fifteen thousand pounds depending on the result. He started his journey on the 20th September, 1788, reached Jerusalem on the 28th February, 1789, and arrived back again in Dublin in June or July, 1789, and produced such evidence of his undertakings, that his friends were obliged reluctantly to pay him the fifteen thousand pounds. In these volumes he gives interesting descriptions of the places he visited, and especially exact copies of several inscriptions, which he took from the original slabs or tombstones in Jerusalem as they then appeared.

These Memoirs were published by Sir Edward Sullivan, Bart., from this manuscript in 1910.

He spent the months of September and October in England, chiefly in London and notes the numerous places he dined at, Bedford Arms, Crown & Ancr., Grecian, Dolly's, St. J[ames]'s Coff H[ou]se, Waldo, Clapham, &c. He records several visits to the Play, particularly to one by Shakespeare. He seems to have numbered among his friends Lord Belvedere, David Latouche, George Vesey and others. With David Latouche he made a bet " The first married to pay the other 20 guins."
